How To Tell Your Food Story Webinar (Durham Tourism and The Culinary Tourism Alliance )

Date and Time: Wednesday, December 1 9:30 am - 11:00 am

Hosted by the Culinary Tourism Alliance, this 1.5 hour session will explore the breadth and diversity of culinary tourism.

You'll learn to identify different types of culinary tourists; identify opportunities to generate increased visitor demand; and look at some good practices and grassroots marketing tactics for attracting foodies to Durham Region.

The Culinary Tourism Alliance will also share some free (and almost free) tools available in Ontario to help you amplify your message.

from the earth we grow

Date and Time: Wednesday, December 1 10:00 am - 4:00 pm

Address: 143 Simpson Avenue, Bowmanville, L1C 2H9

From the earth we grow is a free sculpture garden located on the VAC grounds. Taking inspiration from untold, little-known, or oft-ignored BIPOC events, three artists will create interactive, challenging, and historically critical public outdoor sculptures. Couzynn van Heuvelen, Anna Binta Diallo, and Sandy Williams IV have been invited to present works in response to historically ignored histories within Canada's many diverse communities. Please note that the VAC building is closed on Mondays.

Bodies in Conflict

Date and Time: Wednesday, December 1 10:00 am - 4:00 pm

Address: 143 Simpson Avenue, Bowmanville, L1C 2H9

Bodies in Conflict brings together three artistic practices that examine histories of bodily traumas associated with different ingestible substances. Through large-scale installations and video, artists will create several new site-specific installations that critically detail the historical and ongoing subjugation of historically oppressed communities through their relationship to specific in/organic consumed materials.

Writing Successful Web Content (The Ontario Grants Webinar Series)

Date and Time: Wednesday, December 1 7:00 pm - 8:30 pm

Great website content can help you achieve your site's desired results - whether that's more sales, more signups, or more visitors. But before you've put a pen (or cursor, if you like) to page, you have to do your research. This webinar will help you write better content for your website that will appeal to your target audience, as well as search engines such as Google.

You'll learn:

- How to write for your target audience
- How to develop a consistent voice and tone for your brand
- The tricks professional copywriters use to create website content that speaks to your ideal client or customer
- What role search engine optimization (SEO) plays in content development
- How often to refresh the content on your website, and whether you need a blog or not

Virtual Artist Talk: Kiyan Williams in Conversation with Oluseye and Courtney McFarlane (Bodies in Conflict)

Date and Time: Wednesday, December 15 6:00 pm - 7:00 pm

Address: Online

Join us over Zoom as the VAC hosts an intimate virtual discussion featuring Bodies in Conflict artist Kiyan Williams alongside Courtney McFarlane and Oluseye on December 15th, 2021 as they discuss their multidisciplinary navigations of Black consciousness in relation to ecology, social space, body, and trans/gressive subjectivity.

Williams' sculptural work, which is currently featured in the VAC's main gallery exhibition Bodies in Conflict, furthers the artist's aesthetic and conceptual exploration of Blackness; wherein bodies are not fixed but in process of becoming, in states of ruination, oscillate in legibility, and blur the boundaries between self and other forms of sentient life. The artist meditates on the body as an assemblage and entanglement of many forms of matter—plant life, earth, light—enduring, transforming, decaying, and regenerating amidst social and environmental shifts.

A long-time activist in Black LGBTQ2S+ communities, Courtney McFarlane was a founding member of many groups that became forerunners in providing voice and visibility to Black LGBTQ issues in Canada—including Zami, Sepai, and AYA Men. Their curatorial practice often seeks to unearth stories of political organization and cultural activism from these communities in Toronto throughout the 1980s and 1990s. Their work draws from diverse materials such as personal archives, found imagery, video, and visual art to challenge mainstream narratives within the queer community that render the contributions of Black folx as invisible and marginal.

Oluseye's artistic practice explores the magnitude and polyvocality of Blackness and the ways in which it moves across space, place, and time, shaping and shifting the world. Centering Yoruba cultural references in an homage to his heritage, he bends the ancestral with the contemporary and rejects the binary distinction between the traditional and the modern; the physical and the spiritual; the past and the future; what is new and what is old. Imbuing the everyday with the mythic, his work reinforces African rituals and philosophies as living, complex, and valid traditions of Black consciousness.
