To: Durham Region Transit Executive Committee

I have previously complained about the dangerous nature of Conlin Road East and the lack of shoulders on this street making it very hazardous to pedestrians and cyclists.

It also appears that transit users also have an extremely difficult and dangerous challenge to navigate themselves up to the un-maintained bus stops on this road. Whose task is it to remove the piles of snow that accumulates at these stops?

The conditions are so bad that even young gymnasts would find it a challenge to climb the embankments to wait for the buses and then when it arrives to try to navigate down safely to be able to board the buses.

I hope you will investigate these sad conditions and then rectify them in a timely manner.

I await a positive announcement with respect to this matter soon.

I am really shocked at the deplorable state of the conditions of the bus stops on Conlin Rd. E.

People are forced to clamber up on uneven, snowy, muddy, slippery surfaces to get off the road and try to wait for the next bus.

These deplorable conditions should be corrected immediately. In fact, it is a disgrace.

Please ensure that the Regional Chair and the members of the Regional Council receive a copy of this e-mail.

Glorianne Atkins
